The Growing Fraud Game

There's more activity in the fraud profession lately and again, trusting citizens are urged to be careful.

A few examples of how credulous persons are being bilked are being distributed by S.D. County District Attorney Edwin L. Miller, Jr. The Sheriff's Fraud unit has been busier than usual in the east county where schemes of all sorts are erupting.

Frauds range from small checks against non-existent bank accounts to property schemes by which victims lose life savings and often their homes.

Sheriff's Deputy Detective Dick Rabell has tried to slow the proliferating number of small worthless checks being distributed in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area by setting up a "bad check" file at his office. Now he consolidates those passed at various stores. Small amounts are nearly impossible for a single victim to prosecute so bilkers issue a great number of worthless small checks. Now, Rabell totals them and goes after the passer because the numbers are high enough to put the subject in prison.

Deputies are spending more time trying to apprehend the growing number of dishonest suspects and are returning to the victims what is left of what they originally lost.

Some frauds are so apparent that it boggles the mind to see an otherwise sensible person getting ripped off. It's almost as if they have a "death wish loss" syndrome.

Last week Sgt. Roger Jacobs, officer in charge of detectives at the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office reported that warrants have been issued on a group of gypsies who passed through the east county about 18 months ago. People laugh when given a gypsy warning. But the 22 warrants represented more than $250,000 in those losses reported. Presumably, some victims were too embarrassed to report they had been gyped.

Anyone can become a victim. Earlier this year a gypsy-type group was gyping people in San Diego with a leaky-roof scam. During recent series of storms when roof leaks were prevalent the group would offer to repair the roof at a ridiculously low price. As they started, the price would be increased "due to unanticipated deterioration of the roof. Even so the price was still a bargain. The workmen sprayed some oil on the roof which looked good but did nothing to stop leaks, collected their money, and disappeared.

This week, with no apparent connection between them, another group of gypsies were arrested in Borrego Springs charged with "stripping" stores. They reportedly descended on the Village Liquor store there like a swarm of locusts, the women hiding bottles beneath their skirts. A little later, in Winola, they did the same thing at the Stony Oak Farm Store. 13 gypsies and 10 children were taken into custody.

Two elderly Lemon Grove women became victims of the age-old "pigeon drop" scheme within recent months. In that caper, a stranger claims to have found a large sum of money and offers to share it for help and advice. But first the intended victim must put up a sizeable amount of "earnest money" and the victim is permitted to hold the entire package of found money.

Later after the suspect is long gone, the victim finds only a package of blank paper.

A few days ago a Lemon Grove firm was in the process of being ripped for more than $1,800 worth of waterbeds. Beau Gentry, a waterbed firm at 3636 Olive st., was allegedly in the process of permitting 3 men to load waterbeds into their truck on the basis of an invoice marked "paid."

A wary warehouseman blew the whistle on the trio and the 3 were arrested and deputies are tracking down the 4th suspect.

District Attorney Miller is concerned with the great number of land frauds perpetrated by high-pressure salespeople in which misrepresentations are made. Fraudulent statements include the location, the land's value, availability of utilities, prospect for future profitable sale, installation of roads and other improvements.

Such land is often sold sight unseen by the use of deceptive photographs, appraisal reports and false promotions such as free bonuses, refunds and closing costs.

Land sales, says Miller, have recently been geared to sale of resort and vacation property or to property claimed to have value involving mineral and mining rights.

Targets for these economic crime criminals would typically include retirees, middle-income families seeking vacation and resort property investors lured by promises of lucrative returns.

There is hardly a month in which the State Consumers Division does not revoke the license of a professional operator for poor or fraudulent performance. It is needless to say that there is almost no protection against this type of fraud since the person is licensed. Yet, last month, a La Mesa contractor had his license revoked for "abandoning a project without legal excuse; wilfully disregarding plans and specification, and/or failing to complete a project for the price stated in the contract; aiding and abetting an unlicensed person; acting as a contractor with unauthorized personnel."

This list is only the tip of the iceberg. Lawmakers and courts have become such bleeding hearts that only a small percentage of these deceivers go to jail. Those who do are out in such a short time that it has become more profitable to operate fraudulently than to pursue a profession honorably.

Dishonest operators may have an iota of reason for their dishonesty. "After all, the public cheats on taxes, food stamps and general welfare. Why shouldn't I?"

The public has a rationale for cheating on these government programs since "the government is dishonest—from the president down—so why should we strain to be honest?"

If there is a solution to the problem of growing national dishonesty, it rests with the person who heads the nation.

The President could demand honesty or prison for all who serve under him but in the process he would probably lose too many capable, but dishonest, subordinates in the process.

Animal Shelter Noise Concerns Sups

Spring Valley residents complaints about the noise of dogs at the South County Animal Shelter has prompted the County to take action.

With a unanimous vote, the San Diego County Board of Supervisors has requested a detailed staff report on specific alternatives to the situation, what he costs would be and how much noise there is.

The Community Services Agency was instructed to report back to the Board by April 25, 1978.

Alternatives may include structural soundproofing, using the shelter for other purposes, and should include costs and effectiveness of solving the noise problem.

MICHAEL UGALDE (left), a 20 year veteran of the San Diego Post Office, has been appointed permanent post master of the Lemon Grove Post Office. Ugalde was sworn in to his new post on Friday by William Jennings, the head of the San Diego Management Sectional Center, the area which covers the 48 county-wide post office branches.

L.G. Shooting, Stabbing Not Gang War Say Cops

by Max Goodwin

What sheriff's deputies feared last week might be the outbreak of a Mexican gang war seemed to have subsided as later evidence suggested that a bar shoot-up and a stabbing in Lemon Grove were related but not necessarily cats of gang warfare.

Several youths of Mexican descent had made a purchase at a liquor store opposite the Coral Inn at 7348 Broadway about 1 a.m. on March 18. They were attending a party by a group known as the Vels, in Encanto.

In front of the Inn two gringos reportedly made insulting remarks to the youths and one tossed a beer bottle at them.

The youths are said to have thrown a rock at the Inn patrons and hit a telephone booth breaking the glass.

Later, an unknown driver of a vehicle fired 7 shots into the Inn wounding Anthony Andrew Beagini, 33, of Santee, a patron, in the elbow.

Sheriff's deputies, investigating the incident, were told that a vehicle apparently without a muffler could be heard after the shots were fired.

During the investigation a vehicle with a loud muffler cruised past the scene, made a loop a block to the west and cruised past again.

The car was stopped by deputies who found a .22 rifle in the car and arrested an 18-year old youth who lives on 54th st. in San Diego.

Meanwhile, a stabbing was reported at a party allegedly being given by a teenage gang known as "the 70's" from Lomita Village. The victim was a 17-year old youth and a member of the Vels.

During the week that passed since the two incidents, no indication that a continuing gang war was indicated.

Carl Davis Mendes of 6750 Federal blvd. is listed as Coral Inn owner.

Negotiations Underway on Re-Opened School Contracts

The Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees met until midnight on Tuesday, preparing their counter-proposal to the four re-opened contract clauses presented to them earlier in the evening by the Lemon Grove Teachers Association and the Lemon Grove Classified Employees.

Even though the respective contract signed between the two groups and the School district is a two year document either side may re-open up to two clauses.

The Lemon Grove teachers decided they needed a 10 percent pay hike, a vision and dental care program, and additional leave of absence provisions.

The Classified employees have asked the district for a 15 percent pay raise, additional fringe benefits, and a clause requiring membership in the classified employees' association.

The board spent the balance of the night instructing their negotiator on how to prepare the school district's counter proposal.

The Lemon Grove School District will present that counter proposal during the next board meeting upcoming on April 11.

Schedule of Events Listed for L.G. OTD

There has been a minor change in the schedule of the intended victims of a "Dunk-Your-Favorite-City-Official" game scheduled next week-end at the Old Time Days Carnival.

Nobody chickened out, it was readily reported. A switch in times of a councilman and the city manager was made because of prior professional commitments.

But you can throw baseballs at a target which, when hit, trips a latch on a trap door under which is a tub of water. An official, of course, is seated on the trap door.

The new schedule: Councilmen: Dale Bailey, 2 p.m.; Dell Lake, 3 p.m.; vice mayor Robert Burns, 4:30 and Mayor Jim Dorman, 5 p.m. Fire Chief Bob Adams is on the trap at 2:30.

City manager Jack Shelver and Councilman Jack Doherty switched appearance periods. Doherty is now on at 3:30 and Shelver is at 4.

Presale tickets, for the dunking device are 3 for $1. Tickets for carnival rides are 5 for $1.50. It was erroneously reported earlier at a lower price. The tickets are each good on rides which will otherwise cost 45 and 60 cents

Public Hearing by Sups. April 12

Sheriff Cites Noise, Traffic Snags In Swap Meet License Rejection

A public hearing on the appeal of the County Sheriff's rejection of a renewal of the swap meet license of the Spring Valley Swap Meet on Quarry rd. is scheduled for 2 p.m. April 12 before the County Board of Supervisors.

The hearing will be in the supervisors' board room, County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Coast Highway.

In a letter dated March 2, 1978 addressed to meet operator Terry George Derr, the sheriff wrote:

Dear Mr. Derr:

The application for renewal of your swap meet license received by this department January 12, 1978, was forwarded to our Office of Special Investigation for their investigation in accordance with Chapter 13, Division 1, Title 2 of the San Diego County Code of Regulatory Ordinances.

This is to inform you that the application is being denied pursuant to Section 21.1307 of the San Diego County Code which reads in relevant part:

"The Sheriff shall have the power to deny any application... if the operation of the swap meet will generate excessive traffic in the surrounding community or unreasonably disturb the peace and tranquility of the residents thereof, or if the health, welfare or public morals of the community warrant such denial."

In particular, the cause for denial are set forth as follows:

Cause 1. Generation of Excessive Traffic. Traffic to and from your swap meet in Spring Valley builds during the summer, increasing until Christmas and then decreases. During the peak traffic months, traffic is heavy enough to block major intersections and could prevent access by emergency equipment. Traffic also overflows heavily into neighboring residential areas interfering with the normal flow of residential traffic in those areas. At times traffic backs up from the main gate of the swap meet down Quarry road and onto the Southbay Freeway. Several times traffic has backed up through the intersection of Sweetwater road and Paradise Valley road back to Jamacha blvd. and Sweetwater.

Cause 2. Unreasonable Disturbance of the Peace. The noise from the traffic (for example, racing engines, horns, etc.) and the public address system unreasonably disturb the peace and tranquility of the residents of the surrounding community. For example, such noise has forced a neighboring church to close its window during services causing discomfort to the members.

Cause 3. Welfare of the Community. The welfare of the community warrants denial of the license as follows:

(a) Excessive traffic and unreasonable disturbance of the peace as stated in Causes 1 and 2.

(b) Generation of litter which blows into neighboring residential areas.

(c) The Spring Valley Swap Meet serves as a convenient and major distribution center for stolen property as evidenced by the fact that this year alone stolen property has been recovered at the Spring Valley Swap Meet on January 21, 1978, January 30, 1978, and February 5, 1978.

You may appeal the decision of the Sheriff's Department in the manner prescribed in Section 21.1307 by filing a written appeal with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors within five days after receiving this notice. If you choose to appeal the decision of the Sheriff, you will be permitted to operate the Swap Meet until the appeal has been decided by the Board of Supervisors.

Copies of all applicable code sections are enclosed.

Sincerely,

John F. Duffy, Sheriff.

L. Jeanne Walsh,

Licensing Supervisor.

The swap meet had been the subject of several complaints by nearby residents over the years.

Haiderali T. Kassim-Lakha Succeeds Administrator Dooley at Medical Group

Claude Dooley, Jr., 63, a certified public accountant, is retiring this week from his post as administrator at the Lemon Grove Medical Group. After a vacation he will return to his profession as an independent CPA.

He is being succeeded by Haiderali T. Kassim-Lakha, a native of Kenya, Africa whose parents are natives of India.

Dooley was associated with the Children's Hospital for 3 years starting in 1961 during which time he became acquainted with Kassim-Lakha. He spent 3 years as assistant administrator at Alvarado hospital and one at Grossmont hospital where he was getting ready to retire.

The L.G. Medical Group asked him to serve as administrator for a year but stayed 3 years and 8 months—until Kassim-Lakha was selected.

Dooley, who lives in La Mesa, is a trustee and usher of the L.G. Skyline Wesleyan church; a member of the Visiting Nurses board; member of United Way panel; member of the Medical Administrators of Calif.; member of the Medical Group Management and, all told, member of 19 organizations. He intends to update his knowledge before returning to his profession as an accountant.

Kassim-Lakha, 40, attended high school in Kenya and was graduated from Queen College at Somerset, England. He left a 5-year stint at S.D. Children's Hospital to work a year for the Mexican government in ocean gardening—a project that failed.

He was an accountant for the University of S.D. and chief accountant at Grossmont Hospital when he was selected to come to the L.G. Medical Group.

Kassim-Lakha's parents were forced to leave Africa 5 years ago where they were listed as millionaires. They operated coffee factories, hotels, cotton gins, sisal plants, and had other interests until they were forced to leave the country because they were not black.

The new administrator for the L.G. Medical Group owned a hosiery production manufacturing plant in Africa until forced to leave.

Dooley was appointed to the administrator's post when his predecessor—Merrill Weber—underwent open heart surgery.

Loving Husband Having an Affair

Q. I read your booklet, "The Secret of a Happy Marriage," and enjoyed it.

I will never have such a marriage, but I still pray that some day I could have half of this happiness.

My husband and I have been married for 19 years (because I have wanted to stay married in spite of the lack of unity between us.) For the past two years he has been more loving, and I was completely happy for the first time in our marriage — till he told me has been having an affair for two years.

He says it's just one of those things that happen. He has had affairs before but never this serious.

He says he will never leave me, that he loves me and I'm his wife.

But I don't know if I can take much more.

A. It is a very negative point of view to state that you have got to settle for one-half of marriage happiness.

On the contrary, take the attitude than you can outsmart the woman with whom your husband is having an affair.

You have several assets going for you. You are his legal wife and he does not have with you the sense of guilt he just has to have with any other woman.

So, you get busy and be so attractive, desirable and fascinating that the other woman hasn't half a chance with him in competition with you.

Since you found "The Secret of a Happy Marriage" helpful, perhaps others will, too. Anyone wishing a free copy of the booklet may obtain one by writing to us in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Embarrassed to Ask

Q. I don't know if you can help me with this, but I don't know how to make out. I'm 13 and I would feel embarrassed to ask anybody I know, so please don't tell me to do that.

I have some idea, but I don't know exactly. Please answer soon.

My mother will be letting me go out pretty soon. Please hurry! I'm desperate.

A. When you start going out with boys, here is the way to act: Be lots of fun. But when they start making passes at you, take charge of the situation and put them down by an "Aw, come on now, little boy, don't try that adolescent stuff on me" attitude.

You might as well know now that the male animal, generally speaking, is pretty predatory, and some boys will want to use you for their own satisfaction.

Wait for a decent boy to come along who wants to marry you because he loves you and respects you. And he will come, if you hold out.

Too Possessive

Q. I am very close to my daughter who is 19 years old. We have always been more like best friends.

I love her so much that I can't stand to see her in any kind of pain. I'd gladly suffer all her pain if I could.

Am I over-protective? She just went away to college, and I miss her so much that I'm just about sick. I know she is old enough to be away from home, but I would like to have her close where I can see her every day.

If this unusual? I'm beginning to wonder if I'm too possessive.

A. Yes, you do indeed give the impression of being overly possessive. And that attitude will not only be harmful to your daughter's development as a person, but it can very well drive her from you.

It is the nature of youth to want to grow on its own, and resentment is bound to set in when a parent will not let a young person achieve personal identity. And as for pain, it will do her good to deal with her own painful experiences in her own way. It will make her strong.

You don't want her to become a weakling. You will be better friends with her if you respect the dignity of her own personality.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Organist Carter To Star April 8 At Music Center

Gaylord Carter, nationally-known organist will be presented in the silent classic "Spies" and organ show on Saturday, April 8th at 8 p.m. at the Southland Music Center, 3459 Imperial, Lemon Grove.

Carter's superb musicianship can be traced to a thorough background in the classics. He began his career at Grauman's Million Dollar Theatre. Then followed the Downtown Paramount, United Artists, Warner's Hollywood and the Egyptian. He played for numerous radio programs beginning in 1936 and is probably best remembered for his accompaniment of the Amos n' Andy Show.

Carter's talents are still in demand today. He has been working on a show to be aired next fall on ABC "History of the Movies" and has written the score for a new NASA film entitled "The History of Space Exploration." He recently played two programs in France after completing a two month tour of Australia. He presented the first silent movies at the new Century II Auditorium in Wichita and received a standing ovation at the Hammond Castle in Gloucester, Massachusetts.

The silent classic film, "Spies," was directed by Fritz Lang in 1929. It is an exciting mystery-melodrama that predates the activities of the CIA in a most uncanny manner. The picture stars Rudolph Klein-Rogge and Gerda Maurus, two German stars of the silent era. The story concerns Haigh, bank president and master criminal, who is the head of a conspiracy through which he plans to control the world. His special interest at the time of the film is to gain possession of a treaty between Japan and an unnamed Western power.

Conflict is created when female agent, Sonia, falls in love with her intended victim. Through a very complicated series of events which culminates in a train wreck in a tunnel staged by Haigh, he is surrounded in the theater when performing as a clown and shoots himself on the stage as part of his act.

Tickets are available by mail, at the box office the evening of the performance, or by phoning 463-0308.

Auditions Open for Starlight's 'Annie', 'Kismet', 'Music Man'

If a Broadway musical is your goal — save April 10 to 15. That's when San Diego Civic Light Opera Assn., producers of Starlight, will hold auditions in the SDG&E Auditorium for performers for an exciting summer season of "The Music Man", "Kismet" and "Annie Get Your Gun".

Only two parts have already been cast. Executive Producer — General Manager, J. Howard Stein has asked Don Ward to recreate the role of Harold Hill which he did with acclaim in the 1961 Starlight production. Ward will also stage and direct "Music Man" along with his wife, Bonnie Ward.

Popular actor, Bob Howard will play the lead — Hajj — in the musical Arabian Night, "Kismet". Howard was last seen at Starlight in "Paint Your Wagon" (1975) as Ben Rumson. He is a drama teacher at El Cajon High School.

Stein has reserved the SDG&E Auditorium 10th-15th, 6:30 p.m., with the 2.5 p.m. time period on April 15 reserved for children under 16.

During the open, general auditions Starlight is searching for talented singers, dancers and actors with experience preferred but no necessary according to Stein.

Those auditioning should bring a recent photograph, a resume or background material, their own music, and come prepared to sing a chorus of 60-90 second. An accompanist will be provided but "you may bring your own, if you prefer", Stein said.

There are several parts for children in "The Music Man" and "Annie Get Your Gun".

In "Music Man", a boy and girl appearing to be 6-8 years old are needed.

"Annie" requires four students from 5-12 years old and all must act, sing, dance and "take direction".

Adult dance auditions are also scheduled in Room 201 in the Casa Del Prado, Balboa Park on April 16 from 12:30 p.m. "Come prepared to dance!" Stein said.

Starlight is also looking for a "top flight" Barber Shop Quartet for "Lida Rose", a show-stopping number in "Kismet".

The Starlight office is 280-9111.

Women Supply Books

Inmates at the Las Colinas Women's Detention Facility at Santee received a new stock of books for their library from the Federated Republican Women's Clubs of San Diego.

It was the second delivery since the clubs began their drive to collect books and magazines for the facility.

This Week's RECIPE

Cheese and Clam Fettucine

Many magnificent pasta dishes would be quite ordinary if it were not for dairy foods like butter, cheese, milk and cream which turn them into rich entrees.

This pasta dish is made with green noodles and is tossed with butter and parmesan cheese. Clams make the dish a hearty entree.

Cheese and Clam Fettucine
6 ounces green noodles (about four cups)
1/4 pound bacon
1/2 cup butter
2 cloves garlic
1 (6 1/2 ounce) can minced clams
1 cup grated parmesan cheese

Cook noodles according to directions on package. Meanwhile cook bacon until crisp. Drain and crumble.

Melt butter and add pressed garlic cloves and drained clams. Toss hot drained noodles with butter mixture and grated cheese.

Serve on a warm platter and top with crumbled bacon. Garnish with ripe olives if desired. Makes four or more servings.

Commission's 3 Year Study Shows Women Inmates Suffer

If Kip in Charles Dickens' "Great Expectations" had run across such low self-esteem in the cemetery, chances are he would not have been coerced into giving aid and comfort.

That could be construed as the findings of a three year study of women inmates recently completed by the California Commission on the Status of Women.

The study, dubbed "Women in Transition", took a look at prison inmates in Sacramento County's Rio Cosumnes Correctional Center, Women's Detention Facility.

The study was directed by Commission member Sue Erlich and was funded through monies put up by the California Office of Criminal Justice Planning.

Among the gems of revelation turned up by Erlich were findings which showed women inmates had a low self-esteem, found themselves less deserving, and were willing to predict difficulties facing families, neighbors, and former employers when they, the women inmates, were eventually released.

"Women in jail experience feelings of guilt, anxiety, despair and helplessness and suffer from a low self-image making their successful transition back into the community difficult," Erlich said.

"Many women," she continued, "felt very strongly the stigma of having a criminal record; some wondered if they

Childhood Disease Conquered Man Report

18-year old John Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Marsh, Blair way, La Mesa will see the account of his illness-filled childhood in print today.

Marsh has described the trauma of being a hemophiliac for 'Seventeen Magazine' which will be on the newsstands today.

Hemophiliacs are missing — or have in short supply — one of the proteins necessary for clotting, and suffer from uncontrollable bleeding. Currently, there is no known cause of cure for hemophilia, although treatment methods have improved since the early 1960's.

As a child Marsh spent more time in the hospital than at home. Due to continuing lab research, anti-hemophilic dosages became small enough to fit into a large syringe, and when John entered the ninth grade, he started giving himself infusions.

Today, Marsh is a freshman at Claremont Men's College where he studies management engineering and is involved with sailing and the bike team. He was graduated from Grossmont High School in 1977.

Padres to Make Debut In Exhibition Games

An opportunity to see 6-time American League batting champion Rod Carew will be afforded local fans when the San Diego Padres play host to the Minnesota Twins in a pair of special spring training exhibition contests Saturday and Sunday in San Diego Stadium.

The Padres and Twins, who will actually meet three times in the San Diego area, as they have a date set for Tijuana on Friday, will clash in the Stadium on Saturday night, at 7 p.m. and then on Sunday afternoon, at 1 p.m.

Those two contests will thus set the stage for the Padres official 1978 National League home opener on Friday, April 14 when the club hosts the San Francisco Giants in the start of a three-game series.

But, back to the encounters with the Twins.

To help celebrate surpassing the 11,000 mark in season ticket sales, the Padres will be staging a special drawing on Sunday afternoon with all season ticket holders eligible for some great prizes.

Up for grabs will be: opening weekend for two with the Padres in San Francisco (April 7-9), weekend for two with the Padres in Cincinnati (May 19-21), another weekend for two with the club in Cincinnati (August 4-6), weekend for two with the Padres in Los Angeles (September 22-24), use of the Padres VIP Box for a party of 12 for one game, invitation for four to the All-Star Game party at Sea World in July 10, invitation for four to the Old-Timer's Game luncheon on June 17, autographed baseball from the Twins and an autographed ball from the Padres.

Additionally, Square Pan Pizza will be distributing All-Star bumper stickers to all fans attending the two games. What's more, they will also be giving away coupons good for one free slice of pizza and a special discount coupon with $1 off the price of any medium size pizza.

These coupons may be redeemed at any of 8 local Square Pan Pizza locations.

Cajon Speedway to Open 32-Date Schedule Saturday

A crowd-pleasing type of racing will open the 1978 auto racing season at Cajon Speedway this Saturday night at 8.

The California Racing Assn. sprint cars have booked an 8-event card on the 3/8 mile paved oval. Action gets underway at 6:30 with qualifying for the expected field of 40 1750-pound racing machines.

The event will be one of two this weekend as the Gillespie Field racing plant raises the curtain on its 32-race 1978 schedule.

Sunday afternoon 14, the El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn. super stocks will hold its annual inspection session and open house. The session will be open to the public without charge.

Topping the action in the sprint car action Saturday night will be the 20-car, 30-lap main event. Most of the top Southern California pilots will be on hand, hoping to pick up valuable points for the seasonal CRA championship.

Heading the list is four time CRA champ Jimmy Oskie of Downey. Oakie escaped serious injury after flipping wildly at El Centro last week. Other top drivers entered from the Los Angeles area include one-armed Tony Simon of Upland, Dean Thompson of Carson, and Cerritos' Rick Goudy, who has been runnerup in points each of the last three seasons.

The top local entrant should be Billy Allen of El Cajon. The holder of the all-time one-lap track record at Cajon (16.113 seconds set on July 26, 1975) will be wheeling the same car in which he set the one-lap standard. Allen sold the machine after the 1976 season.

Other locals scheduled to compete include veteran Jim Castle of La Mesa and newcomers Mike Robison and Leonard Lee of Spring Valley, Rich Stevens of San Diego and Steve Spivey and Bobby Dean of El Cajon.

Racing will include a 3-lap trophy dash for the evening's four fastest qualifiers, four 10-lap heat races, and a 12-lap semi main before the 30-lap finale.

Sunday's practice session for the super stocks will have upward of 50 machines in the pits. At least 10 of the cars are expected to be brand new.

'Open House' Sunday at S.B. Opens 1978 Racing Season

The quarter-mile dirt oval will come alive for the first time this season at South Bay Park Speedway 117 when the super and street stocks get re-acquainted to the place at a special free open house Sunday.

Gates will open at noon when fans will be able to roam through the pits. Action on the track is scheduled from 1 to 4 p.m.

According to South Bay Racing Assn. president Rick Powell, 37 drivers have already signed up to compete this season and he anticipates the list to become larger before the season opener for super and street stockers April 8.

Heading the list of returnees will be defending champions John Cartright of Spring Valley of the super stock ranks and Don Hicks of National City in the street stock division.

This will mark the first automotive activity since the track has been restored to proper shape following the recent storms.

Don Basile, promoter of the speedway, said the super and street stockers will share programs on two other Saturday nights—April 22nd and 29th. The U.S. Racing Club midget autos will conduct its rescheduled opener, April 15, sharing the card with the street stocks.

Powell said there are several new cars in the field and indicated a banner season. Other entrants, familiar to South Bay fans, will be Ken Snelling, Jim Pavlick, Jim Brown, Jim DiPaolo, Tom Hicks, Ted Johnson, Dante Mancinilli Sr., Bob Reed, Clint Ashmore and George Silvas.

Two Grappling Belts on Line Tuesday Night

Two championship belts are up for grappling—er, grabs—Tuesday night at the S.D. Coliseum. Moondog Mayne and Outlaw Ron Bass, Tag Team champs, will hazard their title in a bout involving Black Gordman and Johnny Rivera.

Hector Guererro, holder of the S.D. trophy, will defend it against the Great Goliath.

Then there's a meeting in which Coloso Colosetti and Johnny Rivera meet.

And finally, Dr. Hiro Ota takes on Ricky Adams.

The first bout gets underway at 7:30. The Coliseum is at 15th and E streets.

Aztec 9 Hosts L.A. State Sat.

It's back to conference action this weekend for the San Diego State baseball team as the Aztecs host L.A. State in a doubleheader at noon on Saturday on Smith Field.

The Aztecs are 21-9 overall (not counting the Tuesday game with Nevada, Las Vegas), but just 2-5 in Southern California Baseball Association action. Earlier this season the Aztecs split a doubleheader with Los Angeles State in L.A. That split was one of the few bright spots for the Diablos this season, however, as they are currently 3-17 and 2-5 in the conference. The Diablos lost five of six games last week at the Fresno Tournament.

In addition to the conference games Saturday, the Aztecs host UNLV on Wednesday at 7 p.m., USIU at 7 p.m. Friday, Lewis & Clark College of Portland in a doubleheader Sunday at 4 p.m. and Chapman on April 4 at 2:30 p.m.

San Diego State coach Jim Dietz will probably start left-hander Bud Black (410, with a 3.11 ERA) and righthander Jim Leicht (4-1, with a 2.51 ERA) against L.A. State. Black shutout the Diablos 12-0 the first time he faced them. Los Angeles is expected to counter with righthander Mike Yackee, who beat the Aztecs 7-3 earlier in the year and either righthander Colin Danielson or lefty Jack Hills.

SDSU Track Team In Irvine Meet

The San Diego State men's track team makes its third trip of the season to UC Irvine Saturday, meeting UCI and Los Angeles State in a tri-meet, starting at 10 a.m.

The meet figures to be a good one with all 3 teams featuring several top individuals. The Aztecs expect to be back at full strength for the first time since early February. Sprinter David Russell, who won the State High School 100 and 220 yard dash championships last year, is expected to run for the first time since pulling a muscle at UCI on February 25.

The Aztecs have gotten some fine performances lately from sprinters Marty Krullee (10.5 and 21.0), Michael Patrick (10.5) and Hildrai Newell (21.1).

Two of the feature events should be the hurdles where San Diego State will enter Tony Hicks and Rhan Sheffield and Los Angeles counters with Sam Turner and Chester Hart. Turner has a best in the 110 High's of 13.95 so far this season while Hicks has run 14.1. Hart has a lifetime best of 13.8. In the intermediate hurdles, Sheffield has a lifetime best of 50.7 and Hicks 51.7 while Turner's best is 49.9.

TAKE FIVE
by John E. Wirges

My, how times change. Just a few years ago the Padres were floundering on the field AND at the box office.

Now, when they flounder, it's exclusively on the field. Folks stand in long lines for game tickets and season ticket sales have gone past reason.

It wasn't that long ago when game announcer John DeMott had to stretch the truth to get the attendance past 1,000 patrons.

But time and Ray Kroc have turned the tables and now San Diego Stadium is the "in" place to spend summertime.

With just about two weeks to go before the San Francisco (Oakland) Giants arrive to open the home season with the Padres, close to 14,000 season tickets have been sold. And that's almost all the Plaza and Field section tickets there are.

What is even more remarkable, there are still thousands of average, everyday, hard working Jacks and Jills who are on the verge of becoming mini-season ticket holders.

It's All-Star Game logic. Aye, there's the rub. For in that day-dream of seeing the All-Star Game, what truth may come?

When we shuffle off this mortal coil and take our seat in that great grandstand in the sky, we will be reminded that we only pass this way once, pal. And we're supposed to make the most of it.

And if you missed the only All-Star Game ever played in the history of our town, a game that won't come back to San Diego for a least another quarter century, then that's a "Shame on ya."

The problem is, only season ticket holders have a lock on getting All-Star Game tickets. All other requests go into a grab-bag for what's left, AFTER season and mini-season ticket holders, National and American League block tickets and the Commissioner's Office needs, have been fulfilled.

And there just ain't gonna be many tickets left when post card orders get around to gettin' pulled.

Padre Vice-President, Business Manager Elton Schiller is, if he is anything, a properly conservative optimist. He always looks to the sunshine. But he is infinitely aware of gloom's shadows. He is not a man to overstate his case.

Schiller figures the Padres will top out near 13,000 season tickets this year. That definitely is a conservative view.

He also said that approximately 25,000 to 30,000 seats will be assigned to the priority blocks (press, league, season ticket requests, et al.)

These seats will be the best seats in the house. Seats between first and third and the like. Season and mini-season tickets holders get to select where they will sit and All-Star, National League Playoff and World Series ticket allocations are made to these folks within the same general area, if not the same seats.

What's left is made available to the general ticket buyer. The Padres will only take mail orders filling them on a first come, first served basis until all available seats are gone.

There's just one more thing to consider. The area for All-Star mail purchases will range through all of San Diego County, Southern Nevada (we have a farm team in Reno), Arizona (we train at Yuma and Padre brass would love a radio outlet in Phoenix), and "Southern California."

Broadly speaking that covers a population area of approximately 25-million people. At best, there will be 25,000 seats available. There could be considerably less.

It stands to reason the more season (and mini-season) tickets that are sold, the more All-Star ticket allocations will be made and the fewer seats will remain for general sale.

Realistically, as few as 15-18,000 seats could be left for mail sales.

Think of it this way. If you don't have at least a mini-season Padre ticket this year, the odds of you getting a ticket to see the 1978 All-Star Game, at their very best, are one-thousand to one against you. And that's with the U.S. Mail on your side.

Sports writers ain't really supposed to go around touting ticket sales to sportin' events, but San Diego's All-Star Game is a civic milestone. And when was the last time you had a chance to turn a thousand to one shot against you into a sure thing going your way?

Why not drop by and talk to the Padre ticket folks at San Diego Stadium. You'll be surprised what kind of a deal they have for you.

Swap Meet Relicence

The matter of non-renewal of a license for the Spring Valley swap meet has apparently caused considerable confusion and misunderstanding by the public and news media. The purpose of this statement is to clarify the situation.

The Board of Supervisors enacts the ordinances which govern the operation of swap meets. The sheriff enforces those ordinances.

Section 21.1307 of the San Diego County Code states in relevant part: "The Sheriff shall have the power to deny any application . . . if the operation of the swap meet will generate excessive traffic in the surrounding community or unreasonably disturb the peace and tranquility of the residents thereof, or if the health, welfare or public morale of the community warrant such denial."

Supervisor Jim Bates brought to my attention that citizens living in the area of the Spring Valley swap meet had complained to him (even though the swap meet is not in his Supervisorial district) that the meet was in violation of the ordinance.

Based on Mr. Bates' information, and because the license for the operation of the swap meet was up for renewal, I had members of the Sheriff's Department investigate the charges.

The swap meet has grown over the years to become the largest in San Diego County, with more than 1,000 stalls. The result is that the meet does in fact "generate excessive traffic in the surrounding community" in violation of the ordinance. During peak traffic months traffic is heavy enough to block major intersections and could prevent access to emergency equipment.

The noise from racing engines, horn blowing and the public address system does indeed "unreasonably disturb the peace and tranquility of the residents" in violation of the ordinance. The noise is such that it even interferes with services in a nearby church.

The litter generated at the meet blows into neighboring residential areas, and the transactions in stolen property affect "the health, welfare or public morals of the community" in violation of the ordinance.

Consequently, I denied renewal of the license.

I informed Mr. Terry G. Derr, operator of the Spring Valley swap meet, of my decision, informed him that he could appeal to the Board of Supervisors, and that, pending the outcome of such an appeal he would be permitted to continue to operate the swap meet.

Dr. Derr has appealed and the Board of Supervisors has set a public meeting on the matter for April 12, 1978.

Should Mr. Derr disagree with the decision the Supervisors make, he may further appeal to the Superior Court and continue to appeal all the way to the California Supreme Court.

Decries Voter Apathy

Dear Editor:

While listening to the news about the election in France, I was impressed by the fact that 85% of the eligible voters went to the polls to register their preference as to who shall govern them. I thought of our La Mesa election recently.

In France, 85% voted!!! Think of it! — Eighty-five Percent!!!

In La Mesa, 25% voted!!! What a difference!!!

If we don't vote, we lose the privilege of griping when our officials don't come up to expectations, and if we truly care about the progress of our cities, we will surely make an effort to get to the polls on Election Day.

If we are incapacitated, let's use the absentee ballot. If we don't drive, or cannot temporarily, let's ask someone to take us, but don't lose the opportunity to vote!!!

If we were told by our government that we are no longer going to be allowed to vote — that we were going to lose our voting privilege, we would all be up in arms against this ruling, and scream to high heaven, but isn't that what has happened in countries in Europe? Don't say it can't happen here, because if enough eligible voters declined to vote, why hold elections? We here in the United States should value and cherish our voting privilege, and allow nothing but extreme emergency to keep us from voting.

So, Lemon Grovers, when your Election Day comes around, be sure to vote, and let your sister city know that you care!

More Definitions

Dear Editor:

Your recent column "The Dimmer View" "The Art of Reading Legalese," suggested by Senator Bill Richardson left out an important definition.

Did you know that in "Solon-legalese" the word compulsory means voluntary? The California Supreme Court ruled that California Compulsory Financial Responsibility Law, which requires motorists to be financially responsible, was in effect a Voluntary Financial Responsibility Law.

The lawmakers haven't changed the name so most motorists believe that we have a law to protect them from the millions of uninsured motorists driving on our highways.

What we have is a law that is ineffective and unenforceable. The law requires us to show financial responsibility after an accident. Consequently, those drivers with few assets to protect, become a part of the uninsured motorist community and, if involved in an accident, they are in effect "Judgment exempt" from payment of damages whether or not they are at fault.

Very truly yours,
Newell H. Laskey
9816 Bonnie Vista dr.
La Mesa, CA 92041

P.S. According to Webster's dictionary; Compulsory means "obligatory; enforced."

Either the law or the name should be changed.

High Cost of Gasoline

Dear Editor:

Has it occurred to you that Lemon Grove residents are being charged more for gasoline than those of surrounding communities?

Last week I noticed that the Thrifty Gas Stations were selling "regular gas" in National City for 54.9; in El Cajon city for 55.9 and elsewhere for 55.9 and 56.9—but they were charging 57.9 in Lemon Grove.

Now I am sure that they don't purchase their supply for Lemon Grove from a more expensive source.

Have you also noticed that in the past all self-service stations raise their prices the same amount at the same time?

Could they possibly be guilty of price fixing?

Let's start buying our gasoline out of town.

Metric System; How it Works

By John Corbett

Other SI Base Units THE SECOND (s)

The second has been defined in terms of the radiation associated with the cesium-133 atom.

Time measurement using the minute, hour, day and year has not been changed.

Ampere (A)

The value of the ampere has not changed, although the ampere has been redefined as that current which, if maintained in each of two long parallel wires separated by one metre in free space would produce a force between the two wires (due to their magnetic fields) of 2×10^{-7} newton for each metre of length.

Mole (mol)

The mole is of primary interest to the chemist and to the physicist. Briefly, the mole is an amount of substance containing as many elementary entities as there are atoms in 0.012 kilograms of carbon 12. When using the mole the elementary entities must be specified. These may be atoms, molecules, ions, electrons or other particles.

The SI unit of concentration for amount of substance is the mole per cubic metre.

Candela (cd)

The candela is the SI unit of luminous intensity. This unit is defined as the luminous intensity of $1/600,000$ of a square metre of a blackbody at a temperature of freezing platinum (2045 K).

The candela is of importance to persons working with light.

Chacon Offers Consumer Aid

Assemblyman Pete Chacon has launched an effort to better inform constituents of their legal rights as "consumers."

"The shoppers in our state are covered by a variety of laws to guarantee they get what they pay for, or ensure that they have avenues of redress to compensate them for inadequate goods and services," Chacon said.

"But the laws can't work if people are unaware of their rights. Many individuals, for example, don't know how to file a suit in Small Claims Court, are uncertain about what constitutes illegal sales taxes, and are uninformed about change in credit laws, especially, as they apply to women."

"The state prepares more than 25 publications, most of them free, which answer most questions about consumer laws, or provide updates on what is being done about major consumer issues at the local, state, and federal level," Assemblyman Chacon said.

Among the pamphlets mentioned by Mr. Chacon are: "What You Should Know About Commercial Tax Preparers," "The Consumer and Small Claims Court," "Sales Tactics," "Credit For Women," and a bimonthly Consumer Affairs Newsletter.

The San Diego lawmaker said the full list of publications, revised in January can be obtained by writing to the Division of Consumer Services, Information Unit, 1020 "N" st., Sacramento, 95814, or by contacting his office at (714) 263-2148.

Rape, Assault, Murders on Rise

Serious crime in the United States dropped by 4% in 1977 and violent crime increased by 1 per cent, preliminary Crime Index statistics of the Uniform Crime Reports showed.

The index consists of 7 offenses separated into two categories: violent crimes and property crimes. Violent crimes include murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault; property crimes are burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft.

The increase of violent crimes results from a 10 per cent increase of forcible rape, a 5 per cent increase of aggravated assault and a 1 per cent increase of murder.

In San Diego City, the total crime index rose from 62,580 in 1976 to 65,436 offenses known to the police.

Solar Tax Credit Guides Available

Interim guidelines and the special tax schedule for California's new solar energy tax credit are now available at Assemblyman Deddeh's (D-Chula Vista) district address, Suite 219, 815 Third ave., Chula Vista.

Under 1977 legislation, apartment and business owners can receive $3,000 or 25 per cent credit — whichever is greater — for the installation of solar energy equipment which costs more than $6,000.

Energy systems installed after January 1, 1977, and complying with State Energy Commission guidelines qualify for credit. Such systems include direct and indirect space heating and cooling, water and pool heaters, pool covers and other conservation items.

The credit represents an actual reduction in state income tax. Should it amount to more than a taxpayer owes for 1977, it can be applied to subsequent returns.

In other action taken by the board:

— The board approved twice a measure on third reading to implement a new disciplinary code for the district. The old code was amended to include immediate suspension for students caught drugged or drunk at school.

— The board deferred action on second reading of an independent study policy for students who wish to go on vacations with their parents during the school year.

— The Trustees also approved a 176 teaching day calendar for the 1978-79 school year. The calendar follows the same holiday schedule as the Grossmont Union High School District.

— The board approved a policy for employment after the age of 65 for teachers and 67 for classified workers.

— Assistant Superintendent Jim Justeson gave the trustees two separate policies on how to set up site councils for the impending new school finance law, AB-65.

The new law mandates citizen and school personnel staffed councils to help in developing programs.

— The board also heard reports on insurance, took action on uncashed checks issued by the district, applied for storm damage assistance, and approved a bidding calendar for 1978-79.

— The board also set April 11 as the organizational meeting date. In that meeting the officers of the board will be elected for the 1978-79 school year.

Measure Logged in Senate To Abolish San Diego CPO

Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-Chula Vista, has introduced legislation (SB 1746) abolishing the Comprehensive Planning Organization (CPO) of San Diego County.

"The CPO has become a fifth wheel in San Diego County planning," said Mills.

"We know the public wants more frugality in government and this legislation is an effort to achieve some measure of economy and efficiency by using existing county resources."

"This bill would result in San Diego County planning policy becoming more accessible to the voters since CPO is not an elected body but made up of appointed city officials," Mills noted.

Mills said CPO is no longer needed since its duties can be handled cooperatively by San Diego County and local municipalities. The legislation sets up a municipal advisory committee composed of city representatives to assist the county in its regional planning role.

He said San Diego County is recognized by federal and state officials as a classic, single-county planning area because of its urban features, population distribution and geographic location.

CPO has existed since 1966 when it was formed to coordinate land use and transportation planning for the area. It also reviews all local applications for federal grants.

Effective February 1, 1979, SB 1735 would turn CPO's duties over to the County of San Diego which with the cities would be the only agency authorized to deal with regional or areawide planning.

Loans Offered for Solar Devices

The State Department of Housing and Community Development has announced loans will be offered for solar hot water and other heating purposes for homeowners in disaster areas whose homes were damaged or destroyed by recent rains.

Homeowners who qualify are eligible for loans of up to $2000 for solar energy hot water or space heating systems on a first come, first served basis.

The total amount available for loans is the $180,000 contained in the original appropriation by the Legislature.

Arnold C. Sternberg, Director of the Department of Housing and Community Development said, "Although the fact that we have only $180,000 to begin the program will mean that we may make as few as 90-100 loans statewide, we hope the real impact will be in demonstrating the efficacy of this type of interest free loan in spurring the use of solar technology."

Only solar installations meeting standards developed by the State Energy Resources Conservation and Development Commission are eligible for financing under the program.

Loan origination fees of 3% of the loan amount will be paid by the borrower at the time loans are made, to help cover the costs of making and servicing them.

Loans will be interest free and are to be repaid in 18 monthly installments, beginning one year from the date of the loan.

Application forms are available through Carol J. Smith, Administrator, Solar Energy Revolving Loan Fund, 921 Tenth st., Sacramento, CA 95814, (telephone: 916-445-4725).

COMBO Advances Old Globe Funds

An advance allocation of $10,000 for the Old Globe Theatre was approved by the Executive Council of COMBO, the Combined Arts and Education Council of San Diego County.

COMBO normally divides funds available among its 18 member organizations each month. Because of the fire that destroyed the Old Globe Theatre, however, the full sum was allocated to the theatre in advance of the usual payment date.

COMBO will begin the county wide solicitations of funds in April. Outhor E. Hughes and Deborah Mazzanti, both "Headliners of the Year," will serve as vice chairman and head of the Sponsoring Committee respectively.

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C. M. Douglas

Last week the question before Captain Douglas was on car caravans by auto clubs.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you — ask it. It could save you a citation, or it could even save your life.

Address your questions in care of this newspaper and please allow at least three weeks for your answer to appear.

This Week's Question:

Is it true that the California Highway Patrol has citizen band radios?

Answer:

Yes, but only certain offices in the state have CB Units in the patrol cars. The El Cajon area has a CB radio in each patrol vehicle.

The radio is a Superscope CB-640, 40 channel with a Channel 9 override capability.

If you have an emergency, you can talk to an officer directly if within range.

State Taxpayers To Get Toll-Free Income Tax Help

California taxpayers are forgetting to dial 800 when calling the state's new toll-free phone service for income tax help.

"We hear numerous reports of busy signals although we have lines open and operators available," according to Ray Mills, chief of operations for the Franchise Tax Board.

"The call is toll-free, but taxpayers have to use normal long distance dialing procedure to get through," Mills said. "If you normally dial 1, then the area code, and finally the number, you must follow this procedure."

For tax information, the department has different numbers for Southern and Northern California, but the number for tax forms is the same statewide.

Taxpayers in area codes 213 and 714, should follow normal dialing procedures, use 800 for the area code, and 852-5711 for tax information.

For tax forms follow normal direct long distance dialing, use 800 as the area code, and then 852-7700.

"There's one way to tell whether or not you dialed correctly. If you hear a fast busy signal, two beeps per second, you dialed wrong. If you hear the usual one beep per second, you probably dialed correctly and the line is busy. Right now, most taxpayers should get through without a delay," Mills said.
